Issue 167: March 2023

Well done to our Student Council who held a very successful second hand book fair. Thank you to everyone who donated old books and the children who bought books at the fair.

Junior Infants were busy creating lots of beautiful art.

Senior Infants learned about coding in the computer room with the help of Sixth Class. Thank you Sixth Class!

Water Action Day! By Lucy McLain

In Boardsmill school we had a water action day on the 23rd of March 2023 so we could learn how to save water and to get the Water Flag. We all dressed up in blue as it is the colour of water and we also did some really fun activities !

Here are the activities that we did

- A water relay
- Walk for water
- Water experiments

The water relay

The water relay was something every class did where you have a ladle, a basin of water and a jug. Each class would be put into teams and would have the basin full of water and a ladle in front of them. They would fill the ladle with the water in the basin and walk to the jug trying not to spill any water, then pour the water into the jug and run back to their team and pass the ladle to the next person. At the end we saw how much water each team had saved .

The Walk For Water

The walk for water was to show how it is for children in other countries who have to walk miles and miles for water. We put some books in our bags and walked a few laps of the field so we could experience walking miles and miles for water so we know how lucky we are that we can just walk to a tap to get some nice clean water.

The water experiments

We had loads of different experiments including;

- Floating salt water egg
- Floating water card
- Water lava lamp
- Defying gravity water
